When you reached the proper dating age, did your parents discuss dating relationships with you, or like most of us, are you still trying to figure it out on your own? This is not surprising news. Research shows that most people date without a clue of what to do, or to expect in a relationship. However, I believe that Christian singles must understand how to navigate the dating waters. Christian Dating: The Q & A Book shows how two people can cultivate a healthy and loving Christian bond, at any age. To help singles choose better-suited companions, the book includes a checklist of the most desirable traits of a Christian mate. Christian Dating: The Q & A Book explores a biblical view of dating. It inspires singles to consider whether current relationship attitudes and values are in line with godly principles. Accordingly, Christians are encouraged to evaluate their own thinking and actions. You will find straightforward, Scripture-based answers to 250 difficult relationship questions like: How can I determine if my partner is relationship worthy? How do I avoid rushing into love because I am lonely? Are there ways to know if my partner loves me? How should Christian women present themselves? How do I recover from heartbreak? Do Christian men love as deeply as Christian women? How do I move beyond the bad relationships? Are independent women problematic in Christian relationships? What type of woman should a Christian man avoid? How does a Christian woman earn a Christian mans respect? Christian Dating: The Q & A Book establishes a practical link between present day dating concerns and the timeless relevance of Gods Word. It validates that biblical Scripture is sufficient for teaching us to resolve our personal relationship challenges.

This book is a list of practical questions to change any situation and to help you to create the life you'd truly like. Why questions? A question will always empower you to see and create more. An answer will only limit you to what you have decided is right. Asking questions requires no special talent or ability. All you need is a willingness to ask. When you ask a question are you looking for an answer? No. Ask, then make a choice and notice what shows up. Then ask another question and choose again. The idea is to continually invite more of whatever you enjoy into your life, from a place of total awareness and freedom. This collection is designed to get you into the rhythm of asking questions and seeing possibility, rather than seeking answers and finding only problems. After a while, you will become the question. Most people don't function like this. Most people are seeking the answer to life, the right way to live. You may even be reading this book now looking for an answer. These questions are not the answer. They are a tools to unstick you from places you get stuck and to help you see greater possibilities. Please do not feel bound by their form or limited by their content. Make up your own whenever you like! Go on. I dare you. Where have these questions come from? From workshops facilitated by Gary M Douglas, founder of Access Consciousness®, Dr Dain Heer, Davida Bache, Blossom Benedict, Steve and Chutisa Bowman, Marilyn Bradford, Dr Kacie Crisp, Diva Diaz, Michelle Edhouse, Karen Jones, Pam Houghteling, Christopher Hughes, Susan Lazar Hart, Simone Milasas, Shannon O'Hara, Liam Phillips, Glenna Rice, Eri and Andrew Rigg, Brenda St Louise and many other empowering Access Consciousness® facilitators. An investigation of the syntax and semantics of wh-questions through the lens of intervention effects, offering a new proposal on overt and covert wh-movement. In this book, Hadas Kotek investigates the syntax and semantics of wh-questions, offering a new solution to a central question in the study of interrogatives: given that overt wh-movement is cross-linguistically common, is syntactic movement a prerequisite for the interpretation of wh-phrases? Some linguists argue that all wh-phrases undergo movement to interrogative C, even if covertly; others propose mechanisms of in-situ interpretation that do not require any movement. Kotek moves beyond these positions to argue that wh-in-situ does move covertly, but not necessarily to C. Instead, she contends, wh-in-situ undergoes a short movement step akin to covert scrambling. This makes the LF behavior of English parallel to the overt behavior of German. Kotek presents a series of self-paced reading experiments, alongside judgment data from German, to substantiate the idea of covert scrambling. She introduces new diagnostics for the underlying structure of questions, using as a principal tool the distribution of intervention effects. This system allows her to offer the first unified account for a range of phenomena of interrogative syntax-semantics as pied-piping, superiority effects, the cross-linguistically varied syntax of questions, and intervention effects. Kotek develops a theory of interrogative syntax-semantics; studies the phenomena of intervention effects in wh-questions, proposing that the nature of intervention is crucially tied to the availability of wh-movement in a question; and shows that covert wh-movement should be modeled as a short scrambling operation rather than an unbounded, successive-cyclic, and potentially long-distance movement operation.
